SAMLING DELIVERS MEDICAL SUPPLIES TO MARUDI AND MIRI HOSPITAL

(MIRI, 13 April 2020.) Samling Group of Companies once again is continuing its initiative in the combat against Covid-19, with donations of medical supplies to the Marudi Hospital.

On Monday, 13 April 2020, Samling donated a significant quantity (6 large carton boxes) of surgical masks as well as disinfectants to the Marudi Hospital. A second batch of surgical masks will be delivered to Marudi Hospital upon arrival within the month. Dr Nur Natasya Bte Sherimim, the Director of Marudi Hospital was on hand to receive the donations at Wisma Samling, Miri. She expressed her appreciation to Samling for their assistance in these trying times.

In addition, a second batch of medical supplies consisting of a large quantity (50 large carton boxes) of surgical mask was also presented to Dr Wong Chia Yee, Assistant Director of Miri Hospital. Samling Group Chief Operating Officer, James Ho represented Samling at the handover to Dr Wong at Wisma Samling, Miri. Miri Hospital had last week, received a PCR machine, lab equipment, and other medical items from Samling. We are expecting further medical supplies to arrive in the next couple of weeks. Further donation of medical supplies will be made to the respective hospitals.

Samling continues to play its role as a responsible corporate social citizen and stand in unity with the Sarawak state government to combat Covid-19. We chose to focus our contributions to the communities and towards the frontliners as they battled to save lives in the fight against Covid-19 pandemic, says Samling Group CEO, Lawrence Chia.
